

was asked whether or not America had a secret weapon. And the General said, "Just the best darned kids in the world."

Those words were true then, and they have remained true throughout this century. America has succeeded and democracy and freedom have flourished only because the best darned kids in the world were willing to risk their life for their country.

On Saturday, I hope all Americans will pause to remember those who stood boldly in harm's way, defending freedom and liberty around the world.

As we remember those who served in the conflicts of yesterday, let us not forget the men and women who fill the ranks of our Armed Forces today. They share with the veterans of past conflicts the same values of duty, courage, and sacrifice.

Today's All-Volunteer Force—Active and Reserve—stands ready to defend our individual freedoms and our national ideals. At the same time, they are asked to take on new, additional missions around the world. As always, they complete each new mission with professionalism and excellence. They give us all reason to be proud.

Mr. President, veterans know better than anyone else the price of freedom, for they have suffered the scars of war. On this Veterans Day, we can offer them no better tribute than to protect what they have won for us. That is our duty. They have never let America down. We will not let them down.
